

February 25, 2009

To Whom It May Concern

We are pleased to provide this letter of recommendation for Taylor Construction. Over the past few years, we have worked closely with them, and as a result, we are both familiar, and impressed, with the various levels of their organization.

To date, Taylor Construction has completed a number of major projects for us, all of which met with extremely positive results. On every occasion, their quality of workmanship met, if not exceeded, our expectations.

Taylor Construction's crews strive to meet the highest quality standards, being very selective about who they hire and how their team members conduct themselves on every job site. Their construction expertise and sound judgment are exemplified in their daily work. Repeatedly, we have received positive feedback from our site associates, customers, and management regarding the professionalism of Taylor's employees.

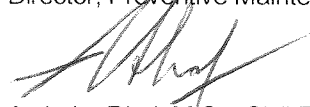

Their accommodating problem-solving approach in dealing with owner requests is commendable. We believe that they have always carefully considered our company's best interests, as they are equipped with a resolve to operate ethically.

In concluding, our experience has shown Taylor Construction to be a very professional company that has delivered efficient, high quality work in a dependable manner.

Sincerely,

James Dudley
Director, Preventive Maintenance/Capial Projects

Arvinder Dhol, M.Sc. Civil Engineering
Director, Construction Management